

I am strongly opposed to any changes to the current telemarketing rules and regulations. Any advertiser has a multitude of methods that are far less intrusive than using my personal method of communication to randomly interrupt my life. To not answer the phone is not an option for me, as I have children and family who may at any time be involved in a situation that requires my immediate attention. If a company that I have done business with in the past wishes to contact me regarding my discontinuation of a service or product, they are more than welcome to send me a letter to detail any offers they wish to make. I make the promise that I will never use any company that calls me in an effort to sell me a product or service.
